DEFENDANT'S RESPONSE TO PRESENTENCE REPORT

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

COMES NOW, the Defendant, SEAN PATRICK GRAHAM, by and through his undersigned counsel, and files the following sentencing recommendations in response to the Pre-Sentence Investigation Report (P.S.I.) dated December 5, 2005:

I.

OBJECTIONS

Defendant offers no objections to the guidelines as calculated in the above referenced P.S.I. Report.

II.

RESPONSE TO PART E. OF THE P.S.I. ENTITLED

"FACTORS THAT MAY WARRANT DEPARTURE"

A. The Defendant's criminal history is adequately represented at a Criminal History Category II, as calculated in P.S.I. Paragraph 29.

In Paragraph 65, the P.S.I. suggests Mr. Graham's criminal history may be under-represented, and therefore may be grounds for an upward departure.

The Sentencing Guidelines Commission specifically addressed the offenses that the probation officer relies upon to make the assertion an upward departure may be warranted, and the Commission specifically decided that those cases should not be considered or scored. (U.S.S.G. § 4A1.1). These offenses have already been taken into consideration by the Guidelines; they are not special or unusual, do not fall outside of the Guidelines' heartland, and therefore do not justify an upward departure. Koon v. United States, 518 U.S. 81 (1996); United States v. Panadero, 7 F.3d 81 (7th Cir. 1993).

The P.S.I. suggests an upward departure may be warranted based upon three Driving While Intoxicated offenses that were dismissed, however U.S.S.G. § 4A1.3 states that a "prior arrest record itself shall not be considered." Several courts have reversed departures that are based upon a Defendant's arrest record. See e.g., United States v. Cantu-Dominguez, 898 F.2d 968 (5th Cir. 1990); United States v. Hernandez, 160 F.3d 661 (11th Cir. 1998). Courts have permitted upward departures based upon dismissed charges when there has been a showing that the defendant was actually guilty of the offense that was dismissed. See e.g., United States v. Russell, 905 F.2d 1450 (10th Cir. 1990). There has been no such showing in the instant cause.

Additionally the P.S.I. lists six charges pending in State court against the Defendant as a basis for a possible upward departure. However, in United States v. Short, 4 F.3d 475 (7th Cir. 1993) the Court deemed departure inappropriate when based solely on pending charges against the defendant without any independent investigation that the charges are true.

B. Possession of a firearm by the Defendant was adequately reflected by the two offense level increase scored in P.S.I. Paragraph 13.

In Paragraph 66, the P.S.I. suggests that the two level increase did not adequately reflect the fact that twenty-eight firearms were recovered from the residence, and therefore an upward departure may be warranted.

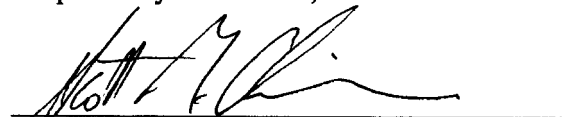

The residence where said firearms were found belonged to Mr. Graham's ex-wife, Cheri Elmore. (See attached Affidavit). Mr. Graham did not live there, he was there visiting his ex-wife and daughter. The Defendant had owned a gun collection prior to being put on probation. Some of those guns were mementos of World War II that Mr. Graham inherited from his uncle. When the Defendant was placed upon probation, he gave his gun collection to his wife and daughter. Many of the firearms found in Cheri Elmore's residence belonged to her and her daughter. Most of the weapons were hunting rifles and shotguns stored in a patio closet storage. The Defendant has already been given a two level increase for possession of a firearm, any further upward departure on that basis would be unwarranted.

III.

SENTENCING RECOMMENDATION

Defendant respectfully requests a designation to the Bureau of Prisons' drug rehabilitation program, and to a facility near his home and family here in South Texas.

Respectfully Submitted,
